the evening of sending Leo's updated seizure log and medications to Nicole:

- first, tom very angry at me for making mistakes in what I had sent to Nicole, so he is making sure he's doing it instead of me
- then tom asked me if I wanted to check his work before sending to nicole, I said no, I'm OK
- after he sends it, he wants me to look at it (I think because he is proud of his work).. I notice a discrepancy and say it out loud
- tom gets very angry that I didn't look over his work before he sends it, a lot of berating and angry outbursts
- I apologize.. reiterate that he offered me the option of checking the work for my own sake, he didn't request that I do it
- he discovers more mistakes; more angry outbursts and blaming me for the two of us sending data to nicole that had mistakes in it
- I don't remember him ever being aware of how angry he got or how much blame he was projecting onto me
